

A Wild Future for Orchids

Short name

A Wild Future for Orchids

Formal name

A Wild Future for Orchids

Contact person

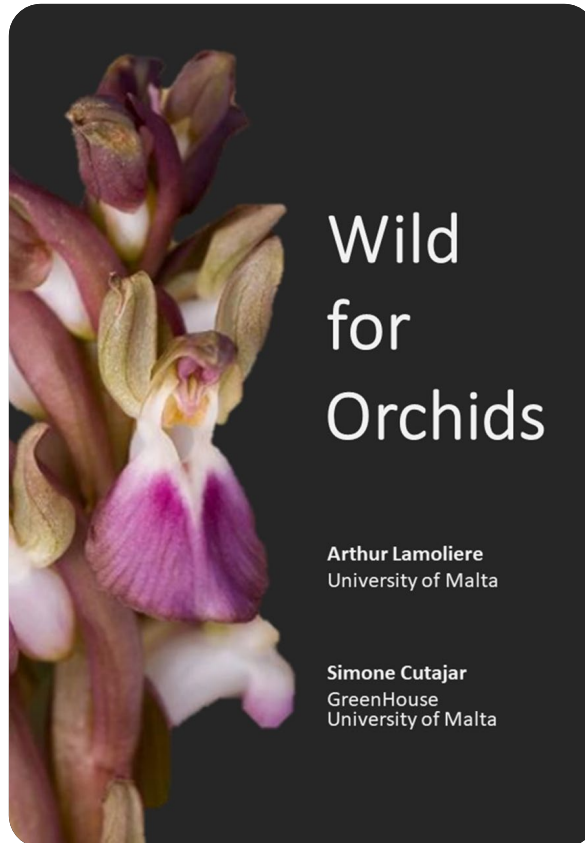

Simone Cutajar

Institution/Organisation

University of Malta

Help us cultivate a community-driven movement for the wild and beautiful future of orchids.

Summary

The project aims to generate scientifically sound data on the abundance and distribution of Maltese orchids while training and motivating volunteers to participate as citizen scientists, by building a cohort of veteran and new citizen scientists who are enthusiastic about continuing the vital monitoring work, establishing a core team of citizen scientists, creating an action group that will develop a management strategy and publish a first paper on the topic.